Acronym sentence, or Acrostics, is a sentence created from the first letters of each item that you want to remember. For example, a well-known acronym sentence for remembering the planets in the solar system is My Very Educated Mother Just Served Us Nine Pizzas: Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus, Neptune, Pluto.

An acronym sentence is formed by using the first letters of the words that correspond to the material. Use the following steps to remember information you find difficult to recall.

1. List the words that you need to remember in the order you need to learn.
2. Underline the first letter in each word.
3. Create a sentence to recall the words by using the initial letters identified in the second step. The more unusual the sentence the easier it is to remember and recall the information.
